Medium Pendant

Powell is a collection of lovely glass and metal pendants. The decorative, mixed material of the shades are the focus of these contemporary fixtures. To allow the shades to take center stage, the remaining matte black hardware is kept simple by design. Composed of curved iron, the shade's metal ribbing forms an elongated sphere. Open at the bottom and handblown by artisans, the structured glass has an industrial-modern feel. During the blowing process, hot, molten glass pours through each crevice creating raised bubbles along the surface. As it cools, the seeded glass clings to the grid-like metal cage. When lit, the gently diffused shades have a unique glow. Beckoning onlookers, these lights add visual interest anywhere they hang.
